33. Witness may be questioned as to previous conviction

No. 3674 s. 31.

Except as hereinafter provided a witness may be questioned as to whether he has been convicted of any indictable or other offence; and upon being so questioned if he either denies the fact or refuses to answer, it shall be lawful for the party so questioning to prove such conviction.

34. Adverse witness may be contradicted by party calling witness

No. 3674 s. 32.

A party producing a witness shall not be allowed to impeach his credit by general evidence of bad character but may contradict him by other evidence, or (in case the witness in the opinion of the court proves adverse) may by leave of such court prove that he has made at other times a statement inconsistent with his present testimony. But before such last-mentioned proof can be given, the circumstances of the supposed statement sufficient to designate the particular occasion must be mentioned to the witness; and he must be asked whether or not he has made such statement.

No. 3674 s. 33.

35. Evidence of previous statement of witness

If a witness upon cross-examination as to a former statement made by him relative to the subject-matter of the cause or prosecution and inconsistent with his present testimony does not distinctly admit that he has made such statement, proof may be given that he did in fact make it. 36. Witness may be cross-examined as to written statements without producing them any time during the trial or inquiry to require the production of the writing for inspection and the court may thereupon make such use of it for the purposes of the trial or inquiry as the court thinks fit.

37. Cross-examination as to credit

No. 3674 s. 35.

If any question put to a witness upon cross-examination relates to a matter not relevant to the suit or proceeding except in so far as it affects the credit of the witness by injuring his character it shall be the duty of the court to decide whether or not the witness shall be compelled to answer it, and the court may if it thinks fit warn the witness that he is not obliged to answer it.

In exercising this discretion the court shall have regard to the following considerations—

- (a) such questions are proper if they are of such a nature that the truth of the imputation conveyed by them would seriously affect the opinion of the court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies;
- (b) such questions are improper if the imputation which they convey relates to matters so remote in time or of such a character that the truth of the imputation would not affect or would affect in a slight degree only the opinion of the court as to the credibility of the witness on the matter to which he testifies;
- (c) such questions are improper if there is a great disproportion between the importance of the imputation made against the witness' character and the importance of his evidence.

S. 53R
No. 7324 s. 3.

For the purpose of deciding whether or not a reproduction of a document is admissible as evidence of the document under the foregoing provisions of this Division the court or person acting judicially may draw any reasonable inference from the nature of the reproduction, the machine or process used in making the reproduction or the negative from which it was produced or from any other circumstances and may reject the reproduction, notwithstanding that the requirements of this Division are satisfied with respect thereto, if for any reason it appears inexpedient in the interests of justice that the reproduction should be admitted in evidence.

S. 53S

No. 7324 s. 3.

In estimating the weight to be attached to a reproduction rendered admissible as evidence by this Division regard shall be had to the fact that if the person making an affidavit or declaration is not called as a witness there has been no opportunity to cross-examine him and to all the circumstances from which any inference can reasonably be drawn as to—

- (a) the necessity for making the reproduction or negative or for destroying or parting with the document;

- (b) the accuracy or otherwise of the reproduction; and
- (c) any incentive to tamper with the document or to misrepresent the reproduction.

55. Admissibility of documentary evidence as to facts in issue

- (1) In any legal proceeding (not being a criminal proceeding) where direct oral evidence of a fact would be admissible, any statement contained in a document and tending to establish that fact shall be admissible as evidence of that fact if—
 - (a) the maker of the statement had at the time of the making of the statement personal knowledge of the matters dealt with by the statement, and is called as a witness in the proceeding; or

- (b) the document is, or forms part of, a record relating to any business and made in the course of that business from information supplied (whether directly or indirectly) by persons who had, or may reasonably be supposed to have had, personal knowledge of the matters dealt with in the information they supplied, and the person who supplied the information recorded in the statement in question is called as a witness in the proceeding.

- (2) In any criminal proceeding where direct oral evidence of a fact would be admissible, any statement contained in a document and tending to establish that fact shall be admissible as evidence of that fact if the document is, or forms part of, a record relating to any business and made in the course of that business from information supplied (whether directly or indirectly) by persons who had, or may reasonably be supposed to have had, personal knowledge of the matters dealt with in the information they supplied, and the person who supplied the information recorded in the statement in question is called as a witness in the proceeding.

U.K. 1965
s. 1(1)(a).

- (3) Sub-section (2) does not make a statement contained in a document admissible in any criminal proceeding if the statement was made in the course of or for the purposes of—

- (5) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the foregoing provisions of this section, the condition that the maker of the statement or the person who supplied the information, as the case may be, be called as a witness need not be satisfied where—
- (a) he is dead, or unfit by reason of his bodily or mental condition to attend or testify as a witness;
 - (b) he is out of Victoria and it is not reasonably practicable to secure his attendance;
 - (c) he cannot with reasonable diligence be found or identified;

- (7) The court may at any stage of the proceeding, if having regard to all the circumstances of the case it is satisfied that undue delay or expense would otherwise be caused, order that such a statement as is mentioned in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be admissible as evidence or may, without any such order having been made, admit such a statement in evidence, notwithstanding that the maker of the statement or the person who supplied the information (as the case may be) is available but is not called as a witness.
- (8) In deciding whether or not a person is fit to attend or to testify as a witness, the court may act on a certificate purporting to be a certificate of a registered medical practitioner within the meaning of the Medical Practice Act 1994.
- (9) The court may in its discretion reject any statement or defer the admission of and subsequently reject any statement notwithstanding that the requirements of this section are satisfied with respect thereto, if for any reason it appears to it to be inexpedient in the interests of justice that the statement should be then admitted or, as the case requires, should be admitted at all.
