38ZK Deemed access arrangement if Commission fails to make a certain access arrangement

If the Commission does not make an access arrangement as required by section 38ZJ(1)(a), the proposed access arrangement submitted by the access provider for approval under section 38W, or if the proposed access arrangement has been revised in accordance with section 38ZC, that revised proposed access arrangement, is deemed to have been approved by the Commission under section 38ZF.

38ZL Deemed access arrangements may be replaced in certain circumstances

(1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3), the Commission may make an access arrangement in relation to a declared rail transport service to which a deemed access arrangement relates.

_deemed access arrangement_ means a proposed access arrangement deemed to be an access arrangement by operation of section 38ZK.
38ZM  Period of operation of access arrangement

(1) An access arrangement commences operation on—

   (c) state the reasons for the proposed variation.

(5) Subject to this section, on receipt of an application for a variation of a binding access arrangement, the Commission may decide to vary that arrangement.

(6) If the Commission considers that the variation that is the subject of the application is a material variation, sections 38Y to 38ZI apply to that variation—
   (a) with such alterations and modifications as are necessary; and
   (b) as if—
      (i) the proposed variation to be made were a proposed access arrangement submitted for approval under section 38W; and
(ii) a decision under this section were a final decision.

(7) If the Commission decides to vary a binding access arrangement under this section, the variation takes effect, and is binding on the access provider, on and from the date of the decision.

38ZP Variation of a binding access arrangement by Commission

(1) Subject to this section, the Commission, on its own initiative, may vary a binding access arrangement.

(2) A proposed variation must not relate to the date of expiry of a binding access arrangement.

38ZQ Substitution of access provider to a binding access arrangement

(1) If before the expiry of a binding access arrangement—

(a) the access provider will cease to own or operate the rail infrastructure used to provide, or that is capable of providing, a declared rail transport service to which a binding access arrangement relates; and

(b) another access provider (the new access provider) will own or operate that rail infrastructure—

the new access provider must apply to the Commission for the substitution of them as the access provider to whom the binding access arrangement applies.
(2) An application under subsection (1) must be—

(a) made at least 21 days before the new access provider owns or operates the rail infrastructure referred to in subsection (1)(a); and

Note
Subsection (1) is a penalty provision: See the definition of penalty provision in section 38A.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply if the access provider will not be, or be capable of, providing a declared rail transport service to which the binding access arrangement relates after that expiry.

(3) An application must be in writing.
(4) Despite anything to the contrary in a binding access arrangement, or a final decision approving a binding access arrangement, on the making of an application under subsection (1) the binding access arrangement continues in force until the Commission approves or refuses to approve the renewal of the arrangement.

(5) If following an application under subsection (1), the Commission approves the access arrangement, it must be taken to have been approved on the day the binding access arrangement was due to expire.

(6) This Division applies to and in relation to—
   (a) an application under this section for the renewal of an access arrangement; and
   (b) the approval of such an application; and
   (c) the access arrangement that is renewed—as if the application for renewal were a submission of a proposed access arrangement for approval under section 38W and the application has been made by a person other than the access provider.

(7) To avoid doubt, an application for renewal of an access arrangement may include terms and conditions that differ from those contained in the binding access arrangement that is expiring.

(2) Subject to this section, on receipt of a notification under subsection (1), the access provider must do all things reasonably necessary to enable the access seeker to connect the railway track or railway siding, or proposed railway track or railway siding, to the access provider's relevant railway track.

(3) The access provider may refuse to connect a railway track or railway siding owned or operated by the access seeker, or a proposed railway track or railway siding, to its relevant railway track unless the access seeker, within the time specified (if any) in the negotiation guidelines—
