4 Delegation

- (2) The Council of Judges or magistrates (as the case requires) of a court may delegate to a committee of the Council any of its powers under this Act, other than the power to approve the making of case transfer rules and this power of delegation.

5 Nature of transfers under this Act

A proceeding may be transferred under this Act—

- (a) by an order of the court in which it is pending that applies to that proceeding alone (an individual transfer or a transfer under Part 6) or to a number of proceedings of which it is one (a general transfer); or
- (b) by an order of the circuit court in which it is pending that applies to that proceeding alone or to a number of proceedings of which it is one (a circuit transfer); or
- (c) by an order of an officer of the court in which it is pending that applies to that proceeding alone (an administrative transfer).

PART 2—GENERAL TRANSFERS

6 When general transfer may take place

- (1) A general transfer of proceedings from one court to another may take place if the senior judicial officers of those courts agree that one court is overloaded with pending proceedings relative to the other court and that there should be a transfer of an agreed number of proceedings.
- (2) An agreement under subsection (1) is of no effect unless it has the approval of the Council of Judges or magistrates (as the case requires) of both courts.
- (3) An approval under subsection (2) may be given before or after the making of the agreement.

7 Registry officer to identify suitable proceedings

- (1) Following the making and approval of an agreement under section 6 the senior judicial officer of the overloaded court may direct an officer employed in the registry of that court to identify a specified number of proceedings that may be suitable for transfer.
- (2) In identifying proceedings for transfer the registry officer must have regard to any guidelines issued by the senior judicial officer of that court.
- (3) After having identified the required number of proceedings the registry officer must deliver to the designated judicial officer of that court the documents filed in the court in each of those proceedings and a summary of the file of each proceeding.

8 Designated judicial officers to select proceedings from those identified

- (1) The designated judicial officers of the two courts concerned must consider the identified proceedings and determine which of them should be transferred.
- (2) A proceeding may only be transferred under this Part if in the opinion of the designated judicial officers—
 - (a) the transferor court does not have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine it; and
 - (b) the transferee court has the appropriate skill, experience and authority to hear and determine it having regard to its gravity, difficulty and importance; and
 - (c) it is just and convenient that it be transferred.
- (3) A proceeding must not be transferred to the Magistrates' Court if a party has elected, or the court in which it is pending has ordered, that it be heard and determined with a jury.
- (4) If the designated judicial officers cannot agree about whether a particular proceeding should be transferred or not, the opinion of the officer of the higher court is to be taken to be the determination of both.

9 Parties to be notified

The transferor court must cause the parties to the proceedings selected for transfer to be notified of that fact.

10 Parties may object

A party to a proceeding selected for transfer may, within the period specified in the case transfer rules, file in the transferor court a notice of objection to the transfer.

11 Senior judicial officers to consider objections

- (1) The senior judicial officers of the two courts concerned must consider any objections filed and may permit any objecting party to make oral submissions to them in support of the objection.
- (2) After having considered an objection and any oral submission permitted to be made in support of it the senior judicial officers must determine whether the proceeding should be transferred.
- (3) If the senior judicial officers cannot agree, the opinion of the officer of the higher court is to be taken to be the determination of both.

12 Transfer order

- (1) The transferor court (constituted by its designated judicial officer) must, as soon as practicable, make an order transferring to the transferee court—
 - (a) all proceedings selected for transfer by the designated judicial officers and in respect of which no objection was filed; and
 - (b) all proceedings that the senior judicial officers determined should be transferred following the filing of an objection.
- (2) If an order is made under this section—
 - (a) all proceedings to which the order applies are discontinued in the transferor court; and
 - (b) the transferor court must cause the record and all documents relating to those proceedings to be sent to the transferee court.
- (3) An appeal does not lie from an order made under this section.

13 Conduct of proceeding after transfer

- (1) The following apply to a proceeding transferred under this Part—
 - (a) the transferee court (if it is a lower court than the transferor court) has power to grant in the proceeding any relief, redress or remedy and to make any order that the transferor court would have had power to grant or make if the proceeding had not been transferred;
 - (b) the proceeding is subject to the procedural rules and practices of the transferee court;
 - (c) unless the transferee court otherwise orders, anything done or omitted to be done in the proceeding under or in accordance with the rules of court that applied to it before the transfer must be taken, so far as possible, to have been done or omitted under the rules that apply in the transferee court;
 - (d) the transferee court must endeavour to ensure that the proceeding is heard and determined no later than it would have been if it had not been transferred;
 - (e) a judgment given or order made by the transferee court in the proceeding has effect and may be enforced or appealed against like any other judgment or order of that court;
 - (f) if the transferee court orders that costs be paid to a party in respect of the conduct of the proceeding in the transferor court in the period before the transfer, that party shall, unless the transferee court otherwise orders, be entitled to costs in respect of that period on the transferor court scale;

(g) if the transferee court orders that costs be paid to a party in respect of the conduct of the proceeding in the transferee court in the period after the transfer, that party shall, unless the transferee court otherwise orders or the party has otherwise elected in accordance with the case transfer rules, be entitled to costs in respect of that period on the transferor court scale.

(2) Subsection (1)(a) applies even if the transferor court has exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine the proceeding.

14 Only one transfer possible

A proceeding that has been transferred to a court under this Part or Part 3 is not capable of being transferred under this Part, whether to the original transferor court or to the other court.

PART 3—INDIVIDUAL TRANSFERS

15 When individual transfer may take place

A proceeding may be individually transferred from one court to another under this Part if the court in which it is pending so orders under section 21 after it has been referred under section 17 to the designated judicial officers of the two courts concerned.

16 Criteria for transfer

- (1) A proceeding may only be transferred under this Part if in the opinion of the designated judicial officers—
 - (a) the transferor court does not have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine it; and
 - (b) the transferee court has the appropriate skill, experience and authority to hear and determine it having regard to its gravity, difficulty and importance; and
 - (c) it is just and convenient that it be transferred.
- (2) A proceeding must not be transferred to the Magistrates' Court if a party has elected, or the court in which it is pending has ordered, that it be heard and determined with a jury.

17 Reference to designated judicial officers

- (1) A judicial or administrative officer of the court in which a proceeding is pending (including the designated judicial officer of that court), or a party to a proceeding, who is of the opinion that the proceeding is or may be suitable for transfer to another court under this Part may refer the matter to the designated judicial officer of the court in which it is pending.

- (2) That designated judicial officer must, in accordance with the case transfer rules, give the parties to the proceeding a reasonable opportunity to make written submissions on the matter.
 - (3) That designated judicial officer and his or her counterpart in the possible transferee court must consider the proceeding and any written submissions made in respect of it and determine whether it should be transferred.
 - (4) The designated judicial officers may adjourn their consideration of a proceeding—
 - (a) to such times and places; and
 - (b) for such purposes—as they consider necessary or just in the circumstances.
 - (5) If the designated judicial officers cannot agree about whether a particular proceeding should be transferred or not, the opinion of the officer of the higher court is to be taken to be the determination of both.
 - (6) The designated judicial officers may require an undertaking as to costs to be given by—
 - (a) a party who supports the transfer as a condition of determining that a proceeding should be transferred; or
 - (b) a party who opposes the transfer as a condition of determining that a proceeding should not be transferred.
 - (7) The designated judicial officers must not require an undertaking from a party without giving the party a reasonable opportunity to be heard by them.

- (8) A step or further step must not be taken under this section with respect to a proceeding if the court in which it is pending (constituted by a judge or magistrate, as the case requires) has by order declared that it is not in the interests of justice that the proceeding be transferred having regard to the stage to which it has progressed.

18 Parties to be notified

If it is determined that a proceeding should be transferred, the transferor court must cause the parties to be notified of that fact.

19 Parties may object

A party to a proceeding may, within the period specified in the case transfer rules, file in the transferor court a notice of objection to the transfer.

20 Senior judicial officers to consider objections

- (1) The senior judicial officers of the two courts concerned must consider any objections filed and may permit any objecting party to make oral submissions to them in support of the objection.
- (2) After having considered an objection and any oral submission permitted to be made in support of it the senior judicial officers must determine whether the proceeding should be transferred.
- (3) If the senior judicial officers cannot agree, the opinion of the officer of the higher court is to be taken to be the determination of both.
- (4) The senior judicial officers may require an undertaking as to costs to be given by—
 - (a) a party who supports the transfer as a condition of determining that a proceeding should be transferred; or

- (b) a party who opposes the transfer as a condition of determining that a proceeding should not be transferred.
- (5) The senior judicial officers must not require an undertaking from a party without giving the party a reasonable opportunity to be heard by them.

21 Transfer order

- (1) If no objection is filed or the senior judicial officers determine that a proceeding should be transferred following the filing of an objection, the transferor court (constituted by its designated judicial officer) must, as soon as practicable, make an order transferring the proceeding to the transferee court.
- (2) If an order is made under this section—
 - (a) the proceeding is discontinued in the transferor court; and
 - (b) the transferor court must cause the record and all documents relating to the proceeding to be sent to the transferee court.
- (3) An appeal does not lie from an order made under this section.

22 Conduct of proceeding after transfer

- (1) The following apply to a proceeding transferred under this Part—
 - (a) the transferee court (if it is a lower court than the transferor court) has power to grant in the proceeding any relief, redress or remedy and to make any order that the transferor court would have had power to grant or make if the proceeding had not been transferred;
 - (b) the proceeding is subject to the procedural rules and practices of the transferee court;

- (c) unless the transferee court otherwise orders, anything done or omitted to be done in the proceeding under or in accordance with the rules of court that applied to it before the transfer must be taken, so far as possible, to have been done or omitted under the rules that apply in the transferee court;
 - (d) the transferee court must endeavour to ensure that the proceeding is heard and determined no later than it would have been if it had not been transferred;
 - (e) a judgment given or order made by the transferee court in the proceeding has effect and may be enforced or appealed against like any other judgment or order of that court;
 - (f) if the transferee court orders that costs be paid to a party in respect of the conduct of the proceeding in the transferor court in the period before the transfer, that party shall, unless the transferee court otherwise orders, be entitled to costs in respect of that period on the transferor court scale;
 - (g) if the transferee court orders that costs be paid to a party in respect of the conduct of the proceeding in the transferee court in the period after the transfer, that party shall, unless the transferee court otherwise orders or an undertaking required to be given by a party as a condition of the transfer otherwise provides, be entitled to costs in respect of that period on the transferee court scale.
- (2) Subsection (1)(a) applies even if the transferor court has exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine the proceeding.

23 Only one transfer possible

A proceeding that has been transferred to a court under this Part or Part 2 is not capable of being transferred under this Part, whether to the original transferor court or to the other court.

PART 4—CIRCUIT TRANSFERS

24 Circuit transfers

- (1) A transfer from one circuit court to another of one or more than one pending proceeding may take place if the senior judicial officers of those courts agree that one court has the capacity to deal with it or them and in the particular circumstances it is not convenient for the procedure set out in Part 2 or 3 to be followed.
- (2) A proceeding may only be transferred under this Part if—
 - (a) in the opinion of the senior judicial officers the criteria set out in section 8(2) are met; and
 - (b) the parties to the proceeding consent.

- (2) The Prothonotary or registrar must grant an application under subsection (1) and make an appropriate order if satisfied—
 - (a) that the lower court has, or (by consent of the parties) will have, jurisdiction; and

27 Certification by defendant that counterclaim exceeds court's jurisdiction
