33 Compliance with pre-litigation requirements prior to commencement of civil proceedings

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), each person involved in a civil dispute must comply with the pre-litigation requirements prior to the commencement of any civil proceeding in a court in relation to that dispute.
- (2) Subsection (1) applies to the commencement of a civil proceeding in a court on or after the day that is 6 months after the commencement of this Part.
- (3) Nothing in this section prevents a court exercising any power it has before the commencement of this Part in relation to the conduct of civil proceedings, including in relation to costs.

34 Pre-litigation requirements

- (1) Each person involved in a civil dispute must take reasonable steps, having regard to the person's situation and the nature of the dispute—
- (a) to resolve the dispute by agreement; or
 - (b) to clarify and narrow the issues in dispute in the event that civil proceedings are commenced.
- (2) For the purposes of this section, reasonable steps include, but are not limited to—

 - (a) the resolution of the civil dispute between the persons involved in the civil dispute; or

 - (b) may be released from the obligation imposed under subsection (1) by leave of the court.

- (5) Nothing in this section limits any other undertaking to a court (implied or specific) whether at common law or otherwise, in relation to information or documents disclosed or discovered in a civil proceeding.

36 Proceedings may be commenced despite noncompliance

Unless a court otherwise orders or rules of court otherwise provide, a court may not prevent the commencement of civil proceedings in the court merely because of noncompliance with the pre-litigation requirements.

PART 3.2—SANCTIONS ENFORCING THE
PRE-LITIGATION REQUIREMENTS

37 Persons generally to bear own costs of compliance
with pre-litigation requirements

Subject to this Part, each person involved in a civil dispute or each party to a civil proceeding is to bear that person's or party's own costs of compliance with the pre-litigation requirements, unless the rules of court otherwise provide.

38 Court may make orders as to costs of compliance
with pre-litigation requirements

- (1) Despite section 37, a court may order that a party to a civil proceeding pay all or a specific part of another party's costs of compliance with the pre-litigation requirements if satisfied that it is reasonable to do so, having regard to furthering the overarching purpose.
- (2) Despite section 37, a court may order that a representative of a party to a civil proceeding, rather than the party, in the representative's own capacity, pay all or a specific part of another party's costs of compliance with the pre-litigation requirements if the court is satisfied that, by the representative's conduct in relation to compliance with the pre-litigation requirements, another party has unnecessarily incurred costs in complying with the pre-litigation requirements.
- (3) In making an order under this section, a court may order—
 - (a) that the costs be taxed, assessed, settled or reviewed by the Costs Court;
 - (b) that the costs be payable immediately and be enforceable immediately.

- (4) A court may make an order under this section—
- (a) of its own motion; or
 - (b) on the application of any party to the civil proceeding.

39 Court may take failure to comply with pre-litigation requirements or pre-litigation process into account

- (1) If a court is satisfied that a party to a civil proceeding has failed to comply with the pre-litigation requirements, or a pre-litigation process for a claim made under Part 6 of the Transport Accident Act 1986, the court may take into account that failure—
- (a) in determining costs in the proceeding generally;

40 Scales of fees and scales of costs

For the purposes of Part 3.1 and this Part, scales of fees or scales of costs in relation to compliance with the pre-litigation requirements may be fixed—

- (a) by regulations; or
- (b) by rules of court.

CHAPTER 4—COMMENCEMENT AND CONDUCT OF CIVIL PROCEEDINGS

PART 4.1—CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS ON COMMENCEMENT OF CIVIL PROCEEDINGS

41 Overarching obligations certification by parties on commencement of civil proceeding

- (1) Each party must personally certify that the party has read and understood the overarching obligations and the paramount duty.
- (2) The overarching obligations certification must be—
 - (a) filed with the first substantive document in the civil proceeding filed by the party; and
 - (b) otherwise in accordance with the rules of court.
- (3) Despite subsection (1), if a party is represented by a litigation guardian or similar representative, the litigation guardian or similar representative may make the overarching obligations certification.

42 Proper basis certification

- (1) On the filing of a party's first substantive document in a civil proceeding and any document that contains significant amendments to the first substantive document, a legal practitioner acting for or on behalf of a party to the proceeding must certify that, on the factual and legal material available—
 - (a) each allegation of fact in the document has a proper basis;
 - (b) each denial in the document has a proper basis;
 - (c) there is a proper basis for each non-admission in the document.

- (2) A proper basis certification must be in accordance with the rules of court.
 - (3) For the purposes of this section, a determination by a legal practitioner—
 - (a) as to whether any allegation or denial of fact has a proper basis, on the factual and legal material available, must be based on a reasonable belief as to the truth or untruth of the allegation or denial; or
 - (b) as to the proper basis of any non-admission is that the legal practitioner does not know, and therefore cannot say, whether a fact alleged or denial is true or untrue.
 - (4) If a party is not represented by a legal practitioner—
 - (a) the proper basis certification must be completed personally by that party; and
 - (b) a reference in this section to "legal practitioner" is to be construed as a reference to that party.

43 Pre-litigation requirements compliance certification by parties or legal practitioner

- (1) Each party to a civil proceeding to which Part 3.1 of Chapter 3 applies, or that party's legal practitioner, must certify whether the pre-litigation requirements have been complied with.
- (2) If the pre-litigation requirements set out in section 34(1) and (2) have not been undertaken by the certifying party, the pre-litigation requirements compliance certification must set out briefly the reasons why those requirements have not been undertaken.

- (3) The pre-litigation requirements compliance certification must be—
- (a) in writing; and
 - (b) filed with the first substantive document filed by the party; and
 - (c) otherwise in accordance with the rules of court.

44 Urgent filing of documents and certification

- (1) Despite the requirements of this Part, if as a matter of urgency a document is required to be filed in a civil proceeding, a party to the proceeding or a legal practitioner acting for or on behalf of a party to the proceeding may file the document without complying with the applicable certification provision of this Part.

Examples

A document needs to be filed to comply with a limitation period which is about to expire and it is not possible for a party to the proceeding to give certification before the time limit expires. Other examples include freezing orders, search orders and urgent interlocutory applications.

- (2) If subsection (1) applies, the person must file the relevant certification in compliance with the relevant section as soon as practicable after filing the document.

45 Proceedings may be commenced despite failure to certify

Unless a court otherwise orders, a court may not prevent the commencement of civil proceedings in the court merely because of a failure to comply with any certification requirement under this Part.

46 Court may take failure to comply into account

A court may take into account any failure by a person to comply with any certification requirement under this Part—
