24 Rescission for innocent misrepresentation

(1) If a purchaser enters into a contract of supply of goods after an innocent misrepresentation is made to the purchaser and, if the misrepresentation had been fraudulent, the purchaser would have been entitled to rescind the contract by reason of the misrepresentation, the purchaser may rescind the contract by notice given to the supplier before, or within a reasonable period after—
(a) in the case of a contract of supply by way of lease, delivery of the goods; and

(b) in any other case, acceptance of the goods.

(2) Subsection (1) applies whether or not the misrepresentation has become a term of the contract.

25 Discharge or rescission of contract of supply of goods

(1) This section applies if a purchaser—

(a) discharges a contract of supply of goods by reason of repudiation or breach of condition by the supplier; or

(b) in accordance with section 24(1) rescinds a contract of supply of goods after an innocent representation is made.

(2) If the goods have been delivered to the purchaser and have not been returned to the supplier, the purchaser must return the goods to the supplier or permit the supplier to take possession of the goods.

(3) The purchaser is liable to the supplier for loss or damage caused to the goods—

(a) by the purchaser wilfully or by the purchaser's negligence while the goods are in the purchaser's possession during a period of 21 days after discharging or rescinding the contract; and

(b) by the purchaser wilfully while the goods are in the purchaser's possession after the expiration of a period of 21 days after discharging or rescinding the contract.

(4) If the property in the goods passed to the purchaser before the discharge or the rescission, the property re-vests in the supplier.
(5) The supplier is liable to the purchaser for money paid and for the value of any other consideration paid or provided under the contract by the purchaser to the supplier.

(6) If—

(a) the purchaser used the goods before the discharge or rescission; and

(b) the supplier acted honestly and reasonably in supplying the goods—

the court may, if it is satisfied that, in all the circumstances, it is just and convenient to do so, allow the supplier to recover from the purchaser an amount equal to the whole or any part of the fair value to the purchaser of the purchaser's use of the goods.

26 When does a discharge or rescission have effect?

(1) If a purchaser purports to discharge or rescind a contract of supply of goods, the purported discharge or rescission has effect only if—

(a) the supplier is aware that the purchaser treats the contract as at an end, whether by reason of the return of the goods to the supplier or by reason of any other information which comes to the knowledge of the supplier; or

(b) if the purchaser is unable, due to the conduct or omission of the supplier, after taking reasonable steps, to inform the supplier or to cause the supplier to become aware that the purchaser treats the contract as at an end—

(i) the purchaser treats the contract as at an end; and

(ii) by the purchaser's conduct, shows unequivocally that the purchaser treats the contract as at an end.
27 Liability of supplier and person conducting antecedent negotiations

(1) In a contract of supply of goods or services, a representation made to the purchaser in the course of any antecedent negotiations by a dealer or by a person acting on behalf of the supplier (otherwise than as an agent of the supplier acting with the authority of the supplier) confers on the purchaser—

(a) as against the supplier, the same right to rescind the contract and the same right of action in damages as the purchaser would have had if the representation had been made by an agent of the supplier acting with the authority of the supplier; and

(b) as against the person by whom the representation was made, the same right of action in damages as the purchaser would have had if the purchaser had purchased the goods or services from that person; and

(c) if the antecedent negotiations were conducted on behalf of another person, as against that other person the same right of action in damages as the purchaser would have had if the purchaser had purchased the goods or services from that other person.

(2) In a contract of supply of goods or services, a warranty given to the purchaser in the course of any antecedent negotiations by a dealer or by a person acting on behalf of the supplier (otherwise than as an agent of the supplier acting with the authority of the supplier) confers on the purchaser—
(a) as against the person by whom the warranty was given, the same right of action in damages as the purchaser would have had if—

(i) the warranty had been given in consideration of the purchaser purchasing the goods or services from that person; and

(ii) the purchaser had purchased the goods or services from that person; and

(b) if the antecedent negotiations were conducted on behalf of a dealer, as against the dealer the same right of action in damages as the purchaser would have had if—

(i) the warranty had been given in consideration of the purchaser purchasing the goods or services from the dealer; and

(ii) the purchaser had purchased the goods or services from the dealer.

(3) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2) it is immaterial whether or not the goods or services supplied to the purchaser were purchased by the supplier from a dealer by whom or on whose behalf any antecedent negotiations were conducted.

(4) Nothing in this section prevents a statement being both a representation and a warranty.

(5) Nothing in this section confers on a purchaser an entitlement to an amount of damages arising from a representation or a warranty exceeding the amount of the loss suffered by the purchaser.
28 Indemnity for supplier or dealer

(1) Without prejudice to any other rights or remedies to which a supplier may be entitled, a supplier is entitled to be indemnified—

(a) by a person by whom any antecedent negotiations were conducted who made a representation or gave a warranty; and

(b) by a dealer on whose behalf any antecedent negotiations were conducted by another person who made a representation or gave a warranty—against any damage suffered by the supplier by reason of the operation of section 27.

(2) Without prejudice to any other rights or remedies to which a dealer may be entitled, a dealer is entitled to be indemnified by a person who conducted any antecedent negotiations on behalf of the dealer and made a representation or gave a warranty against any damage suffered by the dealer by reason of the operation of section 27.

29 Certain contracts or provisions void

A contract of supply of goods or services or a provision in or that relates to a contract of supply of goods or services is void if that contract or provision—

(a) purports to have the effect of excluding, restricting or modifying the provisions of section 27 or 28; or

(b) purports to have the effect of precluding a right of action or a defence based on or arising out of a representation or a warranty referred to in section 27(1) or (2).
Part 3.1—Implied conditions and warranties in certain contracts of supply

30 Penalty for including void provision relating to antecedent negotiations

          120 penalty units, in the case of a body corporate.

Division 2—General

31 Application of Goods Act 1958 to contracts of supply

(1) Sections 17, 18, 19(a) and (b) and 20 of the Goods Act 1958 do not apply to contracts of supply to which Division 1 of Part 3-2 of the Australian Consumer Law (Victoria) applies.

(2) Section 4(2) of the Goods Act 1958 is taken to apply in relation to this Part and Division 1 of Part 3-2 of the Australian Consumer Law (Victoria) as if—

(a) the reference to Part were a reference to Part 3-2 of the Australian Consumer Law (Victoria); and

(b) the reference to contracts for the sale of goods included a reference to contracts of supply of goods.

(3) A reference in Part I of the Goods Act 1958 to a condition includes a reference to a guarantee within the meaning of Division 1 of Part 3-2 of the Australian Consumer Law (Victoria).
(4) Except as otherwise expressly provided by Division 1 of Part 3-2 of the Australian Consumer Law (Victoria), nothing in that Division affects the application to a contract of supply of goods or services of the Goods Act 1958 or any other Act or law.

32 Limit of liability of guarantors

(1) If there is a contract of guarantee in relation to the performance of the obligations of a purchaser under a contract of supply of goods or services, the liability of the guarantor in relation to the performance of those obligations does not include liability in respect of an amount exceeding the sum of—

(a) the amount for which the purchaser is liable by reason of the breach of the contract of supply; and

(b) the reasonable costs of and incidental to enforcing the contract of guarantee.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), a guarantor of the obligations of a purchaser under a contract of supply of goods or services where the purchaser is a minor is liable under the contract of guarantee to the same extent as the guarantor would be liable if the purchaser had not been a minor when the contract of supply was made.

(3) Subsection (2) does not apply with respect to a contract of guarantee unless, when it was made, it included a prominent statement immediately above or below the place where the guarantor signed the contract to the effect that a person who enters into a guarantee in respect of the obligations of a purchaser who is minor may not have a right to recover from the purchaser amounts that the guarantor is liable to pay under the contract of supply.
(4) In this section—

domestic partner of a person means—

(a) a person who is in a registered relationship with the person; or

(b) an adult person to whom the person is not married but with whom the person is in a relationship as a couple where one or each of them provides personal or financial commitment and support of a domestic nature for the material benefit of the other, irrespective of their genders and whether or not they are living under the same roof, but does not include a person who provides domestic support and personal care to the person—

(i) for fee or reward; or

(ii) on behalf of another person or an organisation (including a government or government agency, a body corporate or a charitable or benevolent organisation);

guarantee includes indemnity;

guarantor means a person who enters into a contract of guarantee in respect of the performance of the obligations of a purchaser under a contract of supply of goods or services or of a person who enters into a contract of indemnity in relation to a contract of supply of goods or services but does not include—

(a) a person who is the supplier, or spouse or domestic partner of the supplier of goods or services to which the contract relates; or
(b) if the supplier is a body corporate, a person who is a director or an officer of the body corporate or is a related body corporate within the meaning of the Corporations Act or a director or an officer of a related body corporate or spouse or domestic partner of that director or officer; or spouse of a person means a person to whom the person is married.

(5) For the purposes of the definition of domestic partner in subsection (4)—

(a) registered relationship has the same meaning as in the Relationships Act 2008; and

(b) in determining whether persons who are not in a registered relationship are domestic partners of each other, all the circumstances of their relationship are to be taken into account, including any one or more of the matters referred to in section 35(2) of the Relationships Act 2008 as may be relevant in a particular case; and

(c) a person is not a domestic partner of another person only because they are co-tenants.
33 Limit of liability under security

If a mortgage, charge, pledge or other security is provided by a person to secure the obligations of a purchaser under a contract of supply of goods or services, the amount secured in respect of the liability of that person in respect of those obligations does not exceed liability in respect of the sum of—

(a) the amount for which the purchaser is liable by reason of the breach of the contract of supply of goods or services; and

(b) the reasonable costs of, and incidental to, enforcing the mortgage, charge, pledge, lien or other security.

34 Contract of supply not illegal etc.

(1) A contract of supply of goods or services is not illegal, void or unenforceable by reason only that the supplier is guilty of an offence under this Part.

(2) If a supplier commits an offence referred to in subsection (1), the purchaser does not, by reason only of having been a party to the contract, aid, abet, counsel or procure the commission of the offence.
Part 3.2—Frustrated contracts

Division 1—Introductory

35 Contracts to which this Part applies

(1) This Part applies to a contract if the parties to the contract are discharged from the further performance of the contract because—

(a) performance of the contract becomes impossible; or

(b) the contract is otherwise frustrated; or

(c) the contract is avoided by the operation of section 12 of the Goods Act 1958.

(2) This Part applies to contracts made before or after 1 July 2008 if the time of discharge of the contract is after 29 September 1959.

(3) This Part does not apply to—

(a) any charter-party, except a time charter-party or a charter-party by way of demise; or

(b) any contract (other than a charter-party) for the carriage of goods by sea; or

(c) any contract of insurance except as provided for in section 40.

Division 2—Consequences of frustrated contract

36 Adjustment of amounts paid or payable to parties to discharged contracts

(1) All amounts paid to any party under a discharged contract before the time of discharge are recoverable.
(2) All amounts payable to any party under a discharged contract before the time of discharge cease to be payable.

37 Court may allow amounts paid or payable to be recovered or paid

Despite section 36, the court may, if it considers it just to do so having regard to all the circumstances of the case, allow a party to a discharged contract—

(a) to whom amounts were paid or are payable under that contract before the time of discharge; and

(b) who has incurred expenses before the time of discharge in or for the purpose of the performance of that contract—to retain or recover (as the case may be) the whole or any part of the amounts paid or payable to that party under the contract in an amount not exceeding the expenses incurred.

38 Parties to pay an amount for valuable benefits obtained

(1) This section applies if a party to a discharged contract obtained a valuable benefit (other than a payment of money to which section 36 or 37 applies) before the time of discharge because of anything done by another party in or for the purpose of the performance of the contract.

(2) Despite section 36, the benefited party is liable to pay to that other party any amount (not exceeding the value of the benefit obtained) that the court considers just having regard to all the circumstances of the case.
(3) For the purpose of subsection (2), the court may have regard to—

(a) the amount of any expenses the benefited party incurred before the time of discharge in or for the purpose of the performance of the contract, including any amount paid or payable by the benefited party to any other party under the contract and retained or recoverable by that party under section 36 or 37; or

(b) the effect, in relation to the benefit obtained, of the circumstances giving rise to the frustration or avoidance of the contract.

(4) For the purpose of this section, if a party to the contract has assumed obligations under the contract in consideration of the conferral of a benefit by another party to the contract on any other person (whether or not that person is a party to the contract), the court may, if in all the circumstances of the case it considers it just to do so, treat any benefit conferred on that other person as a benefit obtained by the party who has assumed those obligations.

39 Calculation of expenses incurred

In estimating, for the purposes of this Division, the amount of any expenses incurred by any party to a discharged contract, the court may include an amount that appears reasonable for—

(a) overhead expenses; and

(b) work or services performed personally by the party.
40 Circumstances in which amounts payable under contract of insurance excluded

In considering whether any amount is to be retained or recovered by any party to a discharged contract, the court must not take into account any amounts payable to a party under a contract of insurance because of the circumstances giving rise to the frustration or avoidance of the contract unless an obligation to insure is imposed—

(a) by an express provision in the frustrated or avoided contract; or

(b) by or under any enactment.

Division 3—General

41 Circumstances in which contract provisions continue to have effect despite frustration

If any contract to which this Part applies contains a provision that on the true construction of the contract—

(a) is intended to continue to have effect in circumstances that operate or would, but for that provision, operate to frustrate or avoid the contract; or

(b) is intended to have effect whether or not circumstances that operate or would, but for that provision, operate to frustrate or avoid the contract arise—the court must give effect to that provision and must only give effect to Division 2 to the extent that the court is satisfied that it is consistent with the provision of the contract.

42 Performed part of contract not frustrated

If it appears to the court that part of a contract to which this Part applies—

(a) is wholly performed before the time of discharge; or

(b) is wholly performed before the time of discharge except for payment in respect of that part of the contract of amounts that are or can be ascertained under the contract—the court must treat that part of the contract as if it were a separate contract that had not been frustrated or avoided and Division 2 will only apply to the remainder of that contract.

43 Nature of action

All actions and proceedings to recover amounts under this Part are taken to be founded on simple contract.

44 Limitation period

Subject to Part II of the Limitation of Actions Act 1958, a cause of action under this Part is taken to have first accrued at the time of discharge.

(a) in the accommodation place during the period of accommodation; or

(b) while the property is deposited for safekeeping with the accommodation provider.

(2) This liability of an accommodation provider under this Part does not include liability for the loss of any property of a guest if the loss was due to an intentional or negligent act or omission of the guest.

102 Limitation on accommodation providers' liability for property of guest

(1) Subject to subsection (2), the liability of an accommodation provider to make good the loss of, or damage to, any property of a guest under section 101 is limited to $300 per unit of accommodation or any higher prescribed amount if the notice set out in Schedule 3 was displayed in accordance with section 104—
Part 5.2—Liability of accommodation providers

103 Accommodation provider to provide safekeeping service

(1) An accommodation provider must accept the property of a guest for deposit in a safekeeping service unless the accommodation provider has a reasonable excuse for not doing so.

(2) If a guest asks to use an accommodation provider's safekeeping service, the accommodation provider—

(a) may inspect the property to be deposited by the guest;
(b) may ask the guest to describe the nature of the property and the approximate value of the property;

(c) must provide the guest with a receipt for the property, which contains the information given under paragraph (b);

(d) may require the guest to place the property in a container and fasten or seal the container.

(3) An accommodation provider is liable for the loss of a guest's property if it happens after the accommodation provider accepts the property for depositing in the safekeeping service.

(4) Subject to subsection (5), the liability of an accommodation provider under subsection (3) is limited to $3000 (or another prescribed amount) for each unit of accommodation provided for the use of the guest on the day of the loss, irrespective of—

(a) the number of guests who are provided with the use of that unit of accommodation on the day; and

(b) the value of the loss on the day.

(5) The limitation on liability under subsection (4) does not apply if, before or at the time the accommodation provider accepts the property for depositing in the safekeeping service—

(a) the guest, in writing given to the accommodation provider, declares the value of the property is more than $3000 (or the amount prescribed under subsection (4)); and

(b) the accommodation provider agrees, in writing given to the guest, to accept liability for the value of the property stated under paragraph (a); and
(c) the guest agrees to pay a fee for the accommodation provider accepting the property for depositing in the safekeeping service, if asked to do so by the accommodation provider.

(a) that the guest does not place the property in a container and fasten or seal it, in response to a requirement under subsection (2)(d);

(b) in a case where subsection (5) applies, that the guest does not agree to pay any fee requested under subsection (5)(c);

(c) that the accommodation provider reasonably considers that depositing the property in the safekeeping service would be unreasonable having regard to the property's nature, size or value and the type of accommodation and tariff charged for the accommodation.

104 Notice about this Part

(1) An accommodation provider must cause the notice set out in Schedule 3 to be conspicuously displayed so it may easily be read by a person when the person is in the reception area of, or the main entrance to, the accommodation place.

(a) to be conspicuously displayed in each unit of accommodation that is provided to guests so it may easily be read by a guest who has use of that unit of accommodation; or

(b) to be given to the guest in respect of each unit of accommodation, provided that the notice is specifically identified and mentioned to the guest.
105 Innkeeper's lien

If a person is a guest of an accommodation provider and the guest's actions would, if the accommodation provider were an innkeeper at common law, give rise to an innkeeper's lien for the guest's property, the accommodation provider may exercise an innkeeper's lien for the guest's property.

(1) If a person is granted assistance under section 117, the court must, in making an order for costs—

(a) by sending it by post, facsimile or other electronic transmission to the supplier at his or her usual or last known residential or business address; or

(b) by leaving it at the supplier's usual or last known residential or business address with a person on the premises who is apparently at least 16 years old and apparently residing or employed there.

(2) The Director may only suspend a licence under this section if the Director has reasonable grounds to believe that—

(a) the licensee has engaged in conduct that under the relevant business licensing Act would constitute grounds for the initiation of disciplinary action against the licensee or the bringing of proceedings for an offence or for an injunction; and

(b) it is likely that the licensee will continue to engage in that conduct; and

(c) there is a danger that a person may suffer substantial harm, loss or damage as a result of that conduct unless action is taken urgently.

(2) In determining whether a term of a contract is unjust under subsection (1), VCAT may have regard to—

(a) the intelligibility of the contract generally, and of the term in particular;

(b) the extent to which the term, and its legal and practical effect, were accurately explained to the relevant party before the term was agreed to and the extent to which the relevant party understood the term and its effect;

(c) the relative bargaining power of the parties to the contract;

(d) the consequences to the parties to the contract if the term is complied with or not complied with and the relative hardship of those consequences to each party;

(e) whether or not it was reasonably practicable for the relevant party to reject, or negotiate for a change in, the term before it was agreed to;

(f) the relationship of the term to the other terms of the contract;

(g) whether the relevant party obtained independent legal or other expert advice before agreeing to the term;

(h) whether unfair pressure, undue influence or unfair tactics were used to obtain the relevant party's consent to the contract or the term;

(i) whether at the time the term was agreed to the relevant party knew, or could probably have found out by asking, that the term would cause any other relevant party hardship;

(j) the conduct of the parties to the contract after the term was agreed to;

(k) whether the term is usually found in contracts of that kind;

(l) the justification for the term;

(m) whether the term is unconscionable, harsh or oppressive;

(n) any other factor VCAT thinks is relevant.
(3) Despite anything to the contrary in this section, in determining whether a term of a contract is unjust, VCAT must not have regard to any injustice arising from circumstances that were not reasonably foreseeable when the term was agreed to.

(4) In this section—

consumer dispute means a dispute relating to the supply or possible supply of goods or services of a kind ordinarily used for personal, household or domestic purposes but does not include a dispute relating to the supply or possible supply of goods if the supply or the possible supply of the goods is for the purpose of re-supply, in trade or commerce, or for the purpose of using the goods up or transforming the goods in trade or commerce;

trader-trader dispute means a dispute between a purchaser or possible purchaser and a supplier or possible supplier in relation to the supply or possible supply of goods or services in trade or commerce which involves—

(a) a claim for payment of money in an amount not exceeding $10,000; or

VCAT may only make an order to resolve a consumer and trader dispute on the application of—

(a) a party to the dispute; or
(b) the Director acting on behalf of one or more of the parties to the dispute.

187 Exclusion of other jurisdiction

(1) Once an application has been made to VCAT in accordance with the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal Act 1998 in respect of a consumer and trader dispute or in respect of any other matter in respect of which VCAT has jurisdiction under this Act, the issues in dispute are not justiciable at any time by a court unless—

(a) the proceeding in that court was commenced before the application to VCAT was made and that proceeding is still pending; or

(b) the application to VCAT is withdrawn or struck out for want of jurisdiction; or

(c) VCAT refers the proceeding to that court under section 77 of the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal Act 1998.

(2) Subsection (1) applies to all the issues in dispute, whether as shown in the application or emerging in the course of the proceeding in VCAT.

188 More appropriate forum

(1) This section applies if a person—

(a) commences proceedings in a court; and

(b) the proceedings arise wholly or predominantly from a consumer and trader dispute or are other proceedings in respect of which VCAT has jurisdiction under this Act.

(2) The court must stay the proceedings if—

(a) the proceedings could be heard by VCAT under this Act; and
(b) the court is satisfied that the proceedings would be more appropriately dealt with by VCAT.

(3) In determining whether proceedings would be more appropriately dealt with by VCAT, the court must consider—

(a) whether, having regard to the likely costs and duration of the proceedings and any other matters the court considers relevant, a party is reasonably likely to gain a material advantage if the proceedings are determined by VCAT; and

(b) whether that advantage is outweighed by a material disadvantage that would be reasonably likely to be suffered by another party if the proceedings were determined by VCAT.

(4) If proceedings are stayed under this section, any party to the proceedings may apply to VCAT for an order with respect to the dispute or matter on which the proceedings were based.

(5) If a person applies to VCAT under subsection (4) VCAT must notify the court and on such notification the court must dismiss the proceedings.

(6) Subsection (5) does not apply if VCAT refers the matter to the court under section 77(3) of the Victorian Civil and Administrative Tribunal Act 1998.

189 Small claim commenced in court

(1) This section applies if a supplier, or person acting on behalf of the supplier—

(a) commences proceedings in a court; and

(b) the proceedings arise wholly or predominantly from a small claim.
(2) The court must dismiss the proceedings if—

(a) the court has not yet commenced to hear the matter; and

(b) the purchaser has applied to VCAT to have the matter heard and determined by VCAT; and

(c) the purchaser has lodged with VCAT—

(i) the whole of the amount sought by the supplier; or

(ii) if any payment has been made to the supplier (including any deposit), the outstanding amount sought; and

(d) VCAT has notified the court of that application to VCAT and lodgement.

(3) If the court dismisses the proceedings under subsection (2), the court must not make an order as to costs in respect of those proceedings.

190 Small Claims Suspense Account

(1) The principal registrar of VCAT must keep an account called the Small Claims Suspense Account and pay into that account all money lodged with VCAT under section 189(2).

(2) The principal registrar must deal with money lodged with VCAT under section 189(2) as follows—

(a) if VCAT makes an order with respect to the money, the principal registrar must comply with the order;

(b) if the proceeding is struck out for want of jurisdiction or otherwise withdrawn, the principal registrar must—
(i) return the money to the person who paid the money or that person's personal or legal representative; or

(ii) pay it in accordance with the directions of the person who paid the money or that person's personal or legal representative;

(c) if the person who paid the money dies before a final order is made with respect to the matter, the principal registrar must pay the money to the personal or legal representative of the deceased person.

191 VCAT may hear dispute regardless of related criminal proceedings

If a consumer and trader dispute involves the failure, or the alleged failure, of a supplier to comply with this Act or any other Act (or any regulations made under this Act or any other Act), VCAT may make an order to resolve the dispute even though the supplier—

(a) has not been charged with the offence; or

(b) has been charged with the offence, but has not had the charge heard; or

(c) has had the charge heard, but was not convicted of committing the offence; or

(d) has had the charge heard and was convicted of committing the offence; or

(e) has been sentenced in relation to the offence; or

(f) is the subject of pending disciplinary action; or

(g) may be, or has been, subject to disciplinary action.
192 VCAT may order the provision of information

(1) A person may apply to VCAT for an order requiring the Director to provide the full name and address of a supplier, who is not registered or licensed or whose details are not contained on any public register established under a business licensing Act or other Act.

(2) VCAT may make the order referred to in subsection (1) if it is satisfied that, in all the circumstances, it is just and convenient to do so.

(b) subsection (3) or (4) applied in relation to the conviction on the basis that the person was the principal mentioned in that subsection; and

(c) the person would not have been convicted of the offence if that subsection had not been enacted—the person is not liable to be punished by imprisonment for that offence.
