Victoria

No. 47 of 2001

Racial and Religious Tolerance Act 2001[†]

[Assented to 27 June 2001]

Preamble

1. The Parliament recognises that freedom of expression is an essential component of a democratic society and that this freedom should be limited only to the extent that can be justified by an open and democratic society. The right of all citizens to participate equally in society is also an important value of a democratic society.
2. The people of Victoria come from diverse ethnic and Indigenous backgrounds and observe many different religious beliefs and practices. The majority of Victorians embrace the benefits provided by this cultural diversity and are proud that people of these diverse ethnic, Indigenous and religious backgrounds live together harmoniously in Victoria.

3. However, some Victorians are vilified on the ground of their race or their religious belief or activity. Vilifying conduct is contrary to democratic values because of its effect on people of diverse ethnic, Indigenous and religious backgrounds. It diminishes their dignity, sense of self-worth and belonging to the community. It also reduces their ability to contribute to, or fully participate in, all social, political, economic and cultural aspects of society as equals, thus reducing the benefit that diversity brings to the community.
 4. It is therefore desirable that the Parliament enact law for the people of Victoria that supports racial and religious tolerance.

The Parliament of Victoria therefore enacts as follows:

PART 1—PRELIMINARY

1. Purposes

The purposes of this Act are—

- (a) to promote racial and religious tolerance by prohibiting certain conduct involving the vilification of persons on the ground of race or religious belief or activity;
- (b) to provide a means of redress for the victims of racial or religious vilification;
- (c) to make consequential amendments to the Equal Opportunity Act 1995.

2. Commencement

- (1) Subject to sub-section (2), this Act comes into operation on a day or days to be proclaimed.
- (2) If a provision referred to in sub-section (1) does not come into operation before 1 January 2002, it comes into operation on that day.

PART 2—UNLAWFUL CONDUCT

Division 1—Unlawful Vilification

7. Racial vilification unlawful

- (1) A person must not, on the ground of the race of another person or class of persons, engage in conduct that incites hatred against, serious contempt for, or revulsion or severe ridicule of, that other person or class of persons.
- (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), conduct—
 - (a) may be constituted by a single occasion or by a number of occasions over a period of time; and
 - (b) may occur in or outside Victoria.

Note: "engage in conduct" includes use of the internet or e-mail to publish or transmit statements or other material.

8. Religious vilification unlawful

- (1) A person must not, on the ground of the religious belief or activity of another person or class of persons, engage in conduct that incites hatred against, serious contempt for, or revulsion or severe ridicule of, that other person or class of persons.

Note: "engage in conduct" includes use of the internet or e-mail to publish or transmit statements or other material.

- (2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), conduct—
 - (a) may be constituted by a single occasion or by a number of occasions over a period of time; and
 - (b) may occur in or outside Victoria.

9. Motive and dominant ground irrelevant

- (1) In determining whether a person has contravened section 7 or 8, the person's motive in engaging in any conduct is irrelevant.
- (2) In determining whether a person has contravened section 7 or 8, it is irrelevant whether or not the race or religious belief or activity of another person or class of persons is the only or dominant ground for the conduct, so long as it is a substantial ground.

10. Incorrect assumption as to race or religious belief or activity

In determining whether a person has contravened section 7 or 8, it is irrelevant whether or not the person made an assumption about the race or religious belief or activity of another person or class of persons that was incorrect at the time that the contravention is alleged to have taken place.

11. Exceptions—public conduct

A person does not contravene section 7 or 8 if the person establishes that the person's conduct was engaged in reasonably and in good faith—

- (a) in the performance, exhibition or distribution of an artistic work; or
- (b) in the course of any statement, publication, discussion or debate made or held, or any other conduct engaged in, for—
 - (i) any genuine academic, artistic, religious or scientific purpose; or
 - (ii) any purpose that is in the public interest; or
- (c) in making or publishing a fair and accurate report of any event or matter of public interest.

12. Exceptions—private conduct

Racial and Religious Tolerance Act 2001

Act No. 47/2001

- (1) A person does not contravene section 7 or 8 if the person establishes that the person engaged in the conduct in circumstances that may reasonably be taken to indicate that the parties to the conduct desire it to be heard or seen only by themselves.
- (2) Sub-section (1) does not apply in relation to conduct in any circumstances in which the parties to the conduct ought reasonably to expect that it may be heard or seen by someone else.

Division 2—Other Unlawful Conduct

13. Prohibition of victimisation

A person must not victimise another person.

14. What is victimisation?

- (1) A person victimises another person if the person subjects or threatens to subject the other person to any detriment because the other person, or a person associated (whether as a relative or otherwise) with the other person—
 - (a) has made a complaint against any person;
 - (b) has brought any other proceedings under this Act against any person;
 - (c) has given evidence or information, or produced a document, in connection with any proceedings under this Act;
 - (d) has attended a compulsory conference at the Tribunal;
 - (e) has otherwise done anything in accordance with this Act in relation to any person;
 - (f) has alleged that any person has contravened a provision of this Act, unless the allegation is false and was not made in good faith;

- (g) has refused to do anything that would contravene a provision of this Act—or because the person believes that the other person or the associate has done or intends to do any of those things.
- (2) It is sufficient for sub-section (1)(f) that the allegation states the conduct that would constitute the contravention, without actually stating that this Act, or a provision of this Act, has been contravened.
- (3) In determining whether a person victimises another person it is irrelevant—
- (a) whether or not a factor in sub-section (1) is the only or dominant ground for the treatment or threatened treatment, so long as it is a substantial ground;
 - (b) whether the person acts alone or in association with any other person.

15. Prohibition of authorising or assisting vilification or victimisation

A person must not request, instruct, induce, encourage, authorise or assist another person to contravene a provision of this Part.

16. Liability of person who authorises or assists

If, as a result of a person doing any of the things specified in section 15, the other person contravenes a provision of this Part—

- (a) a complaint about the contravention may be lodged against either or both of those persons; and
 - (b) for the purposes of the complaint, both of them must be taken to have contravened the provision.

17. Vicarious liability of employers and principals

If a person in the course of employment or while acting as an agent contravenes a provision of this Part, both the person and the employer or principal must be taken to have contravened the provision, and a complaint about the contravention may be lodged against either or both of them.

18. Exception to vicarious liability

An employer or principal is not vicariously liable for a contravention of a provision of this Part by an employee or agent if the employer or principal proves, on the balance of probabilities, that the employer or principal took reasonable precautions to prevent the employee or agent contravening this Part.

PART 3—COMPLAINTS AND CONCILIATION

19. Who may complain?

 - (b) the representative body has a sufficient interest in the complaint; and
 - (c) the alleged contravention arises out of the same conduct.
- (4) A representative body has sufficient interest in a complaint if the conduct that constitutes the alleged contravention is a matter of genuine concern to the body because of the way conduct of that nature adversely affects or has the potential adversely to affect the interests of the body or the interests or welfare of the persons it represents.
- (5) An authorisation under sub-section (1)(b)(i) may be given—
- (a) in writing; or
